Chris in Manchester, invite you to sign up for a day course to learn all about drumming in the recording studio environment. It's a one day course where you will learn everything from the mic'ing of the drum kit, microphone choices, room placement and understanding the complete recording chain, right through to the tuning of the drums, drum head/kit choice, charting for songs, working with clicks, working on your dynamics/musicality in the studio and much, much more.. All the information you'll learn throughout the day will help you in a professional/remote studio session and will greatly improve your drumming & drum sound in the studio environment. The course is only open to 4 students at a time so the demand is very high, so please check the upcoming dates and email if you would like to book a space.
